‘Cruise to Murder’ dinner theater will help to tell the story of Ohio’s first female presidential candidate

Victoria Woodhull

Women’s rights to vote

In her youth, Woodhull became a working medium, claiming psychic abilities that put her in her father’s moving medicine show. The ambitious Woodhull eventually arced a few years, became part of New York City society, and became a regular with her psychic sister. They were tagged the “Beetle Sisters,” and used the money from the industry, making a small fortune, according to information from the Vermilion Band Boosters.

Vermilion Band Boosters will sell tickets through April 11. For more details, visit the Vermilion Band Boosters page on Facebook.

The dinner featuresdrinking with Dwight and Mary Elizabeth Scharer, an alumni of the Vermilion High School class of 1955. The band will perform, including Avon, Clo
